

Port of Los Angeles

Located in San Pedro Bay, 20 miles south of downtown Los Angeles, the Port of Los Angeles encompasses 7,500 acres of land with 43 miles of waterfront containing 26 passenger and cargo terminals. With a main channel depth of 53 feet, the port routinely welcomes the largest container ships in the transpacific trade. As North America's leading port by cargo value and container volume, LA's thriving seaport manages record-setting cargo volumes, moving billions of dollars of cargo annually.
